Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 21 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A wet night, becoming drier through Monday.

This Evening and Tonight:
The evening will see some dry spells, before persistent and occasionally heavy rain moves eastwards across the country going overnight. Western areas become drier through the early hours. Remaining cloudy throughout but feeling mild, with light winds. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
Lingering rain in the east will clear through the morning, leaving a dry afternoon with plenty of sunny spells. Fog possible overnight in prone locations. Feeling mild with light winds. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Turning windy on Tuesday, with outbreaks of rain and possible coastal gales. More of the same on Wednesday, but conditions improving. Lighter winds, sunshine, and showers on Thursday. Mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.